

Social Services Manager Role Description

Reports to: Senior Program Director

Job Category: Salaried Employee (for full time) Hourly Employee (for part time)

Job Location: Remote with attendance at in-person meetings in Central Ohio

About Families Flourish:

Families Flourish (Flourish), a nonprofit organization, is an innovative program to improve life outcomes for children and their families by creating opportunities for residential and financial stability. Families Flourish offers a 3-year program that transforms the lives of low-wage working families and their children by providing a comprehensive path to economic mobility and wellness. This is accomplished through life coaching, rent support and monthly required programs that promote housing and economic stability, career advancement, and generational change for their children.

The Social Service Manager's role at Families Flourish:

The Social Service Manager's role empowers participants in the Families Flourish program to overcome the challenges they experience. The person who assumes this role understands that their primary focus is providing additional resources and support to participants with challenges beyond the coaching relationship's scope. This position works broadly with participants in the program to connect them to resources and provides case management to participants who need additional support. The position takes a leadership role in group programming, programming education, building partnerships with social service organizations in Central Ohio and other projects by supporting the coaching staff and Senior Program Director. This position works in partnership with other Social Service Managers. This position is primarily remote but attendance at in-person meetings and programs in central Ohio is required.

Specific Tasks:

This role has responsibilities in four areas: programming, case management, program education, and administrative with the following core tasks:

school enrollment, daycare providers, identifying funds needed for moving, furniture, loans, etc.

- A group of approximately 16 - 18 participants will begin the program and change residences time twice a year; having flexibility with the high demand during these critical transition periods is required.
- Will case manage participants on an ongoing basis who need additional support.
- May periodically meet with participants in their home or other locations.
- Acts as a liaison between coaches, participants, and the resource personnel of agencies.
 - Identifies key community specialists based on need
 - Coordinates referral to social services agencies
 - Monitors (results-orientated) the progress on addressing social service needs
 - Assists with issues related to the school and educational needs
- Build relationships with strategic community partners willing to act as specialized resource people for specific client needs. These partnerships are with agencies and individuals who have expertise in financial literacy, career coaching or counseling, workforce development, relationship issues, domestic violence, parenting, addiction, health, or other such issues beyond the scope of the coaching team.
- Assists with updating resource lists for coaches and participants.
- Maintains records regarding types and numbers of referrals made to outside resources or agencies.
- Identify social service needs and trends and communicate this to the Senior Program Director (proactive).
- Provides case management to participants who need additional support. Meet with participants regularly, connects them to needed resources and provides ongoing one on one support around self sustainability.
- Acts as an additional resource for participants who require more specific education in renter's issues such as: paying rent on time, addressing housing concerns with landlords, complying with rental agreements, etc.
- Protects participant confidentiality.
- Monitors all necessary documentation such as rent payments, income, job changes, credit scores, etc. - inputs in the CRM and held confidentially and generates reports as required for the Senior Program Manager, Project Evaluation team, coaches and the President.
- Assists in delivering assessments generated by the program itself and the evaluation teams and all other surveys required of participants and/or coaches.
- In the event a participant faces a financial emergency, assist the participant and coach to access emergency funds in the community and then from the Families Flourish Emergency Fund.
- Participates in outreach efforts to identify potential applicants for the Families Flourish program.
- Other duties as assigned.
