Families Flourish creates a future where our families are empowered to unleash their talents and pursue their goals and aspirations. By addressing barriers and fostering self-confidence, families will be equipped to navigate their lives effectively using program tools designed for lifelong success. Since welcoming our first 10 pilot families in 2018, Families Flourish has grown to serve 120 families-representing 331 people directly, including 123 adults and 208 children-through December 2025, reflecting both strong demand and proven impact. Most participants increased their income while in the program and for many who did not, they were engaged in education and training programs to put themselves on a path to economic stability. These outcomes reflect sustained improvements in financial stability, workforce advancement, and overall family well-being. We remain deeply committed to measuring and strengthening outcomes, with independent evaluation by a team from The Ohio State University's School of City and Regional Planning consistently demonstrating meaningful progress for participating families. Full evaluations are made publicly available on our website annually. Independent analysis by Scioto Analysis shows that programs like Families Flourish can generate up to $7 in social and economic value for every $1 invested, driven by higher lifetime earnings and reduced public
